tymieniecka's phenomenology of life reverses current priorities stressing the primogenital role of aesthetic enjoyment rather than cognition as typifying the human condition the present collection offers clues to a crucial breakthrough in the perennial uncertainties about the powers and prerogatives of the human mind it proposes human creativity as the pivot of the mind's genesis and its endowment in the midst of the current defiance of the transcendental certainties of cognition this turn to the creative act of the human being represents a radical reversion to an approach to human powers that is predominated by the aesthetic virtualities of the human condition the collection lays down the foundations for a new discovery of the human mind addressing the plumbing of the functional system that originates in the creative potentiality of the human condition undercutting the currently prevalent empirical reductionism though our time is often said to be post religious and post metaphysical many continue to seek some encounter with otherness and transcendence in art this book deals diversely with the issues of art origins and otherness both in themselves and in philosophical engagements with the works of plato kant hegel schopenhauer nietzsche and heidegger addressing themes such as eros and mania genius and the sublime transcendence and the saving power of art william desmond tries to make sense of the paradox that too much has been asked of art that now almost nothing is asked of it he argues that there is more to be said philosophically of art and claims that art has the power to open up mindfulness beyond objectifying knowledge as well as beyond thinking that claims to be entirely self determining
