thomas bernhard was one of the most original writers of the twentieth century his formal innovation ranks with beckett and kafka his outrageously cantankerous voice recalls dostoevsky but his gift for lacerating lyrical provocative prose is incomparably his own one of bernhard s most acclaimed novels the loser centers on a fictional relationship between piano virtuoso glenn gould and two of his fellow students who feel compelled to renounce their musical ambitions in the face of gould s incomparable genius one commits suicide while the other the obsessive witty and self mocking narrator has retreated into obscurity written as a monologue in one remarkable unbroken paragraph the loser is a brilliant meditation on success failure genius and fame the book s primary emphasis is on bernhard s later fiction but it also explicates the early texts of the 1960s and 1970s the book makes use of insights from recent approaches to fiction that pay attention to what can be termed narrative dynamics earlier studies of bernhard have tended to remain within the descriptive framework established in narrative studies of the 1950s and 1960s this book views bernhard s prose works from a more nuanced vantage point book jacket fiercely observed often hilarious and reminiscent of ibsen and strindberg the new york times book review this exquisitely controversial novel was initially banned in its author s homeland a searing portrayal of vienna s bourgeoisie it begins with the arrival of an unnamed writer at an artistic dinner hosted by a composer and his society wife a couple he once admired and has come to loathe the guest of honor a distinguished actor from the burgtheater is late as the other guests wait impatiently they are seen through the critical eye of the writer who narrates a silent but frenzied tirade against these former friends most of whom have been brought together by joana a woman they buried earlier that day reflections on joana s life and suicide are mixed with these denunciations until the famous actor arrives bringing an explosive end to the evening that even the writer could not have seen coming thomas bernhard 1931 1989 a literary figure of international acclaim and arguably austria s greatest post world war ii writer became the first of his generation to expose unrelentingly his country's pathological denial of complicity in the holocaust bernhard's writings and indeed his own biography reflect austria's fraught efforts to define itself as a nation following the collapse of the habsburg monarchy and the trauma of world war ii repeatedly he scandalized the nation with novels plays and public statements that exposed the convoluted ways austrians were attempting to come to terms with their nazi past or defiantly avoiding doing so this book the first comprehensive biography of thomas bernhard in english examines his life and work and their intricate relationship to austria's geographical political and cultural transformations in the twentieth century while bernhard was the scourge of his native culture honegger explains he was also a product of that same culture appreciation of his controversial impact on his society is possible only through an understanding of the contradictions the shame and the achievements that mark austria's self perception in the postwar years honegger shows that for bernhard the theater was not only a profession but also a paradigm for his life and that performance was the primary force animating his writing and self construction even after his death bernhard's carefully constructed biography continues to fascinate shock and expose the australian culture at large both dramatic and musical theater are part of the tradition that has made austria especially vienna and the old habsburg lands synonymous with high culture in central europe many works often controversial originally but now considered as classics are still performed regularly in vienna prague budapest or krakow this volume not only offers an excellent overview of the theatrical history of the region it is also an innovative cross disciplinary attempt to analyse the inner workings and dynamics of theater through a discussion of the interplay between society the audience and performing artists this study explores the concept of stimmung in literary and philosophical texts of the modern age signifying both mood and attunement stimmung speaks to the categories of affective experience and aesthetic design alike the study locates itself in the nexus between discourses on modernity existentialism and aesthetics and uncovers the pivotal role of stimmung in 19th and 20th century european narrative fiction and continental philosophy the study first explores the philosophical and aesthetic origins and implications of stimmung to then discuss its role in the narrative fiction of three key authors of modern literature fyodor dostoevsky samuel beckett and thomas bernhard these readings demonstrate a significant shift towards an aesthetic of affective intensity and immediacy in which the experience of the reading process takes centre stage as each author develops an aesthetic philosophy of stimmung in their own right through its focus on the concept of stimmung the study thus unearths a fundamental link between existentialist concerns and narrative practice in modern literature the epigraph to correction austrian writer thomas bernhard s masterpiece reads a body needs at least three points of support not in a straight line to fix its position three part inventions finds in this simple geometrical axiom a surprisingly complex key to an understanding of bernhard s major novels it argues that each of them although firmly anchored in austrian history emerges from an archetypal story involving a trio of figures a protagonist who having been deprived of a desired object by a more powerful adversary displaces his frustration upon a scapegoat who suffers in his place it further shows that bernhard transforms this destructive protagonist adversary scapegoat pattern into a creative trio formed by the author himself the artistic precursors who serve as his models and the readers who receive the finished work this study is intended to enrich for english language readers the unforgettable experience of reading the author whom italo calvino once called the greatest writer in the world for five years Konrad has imprisoned himself and his crippled wife in an abandoned lime works where he has conducted odd auditory experiments and prepared to write his masterwork the sense of hearing as the story begins he has just blown the head off his wife with the Mannlicher carbine she kept strapped to her wheelchair the murder and the bizarre life that led to it are the subject of a mass of hearsay related by an unnamed life insurance salesman in a narrative as mazy byzantine and mysterious as the lime works Konrad's sanctuary and tomb

Textual Entanglements explores how the material processes of writing manifest in the published works of three twentieth century Austrian authors Peter Handke Thomas Bernhard and Rainer Maria Rilke these authors left behind material traces of their writing processes whether in notebooks piles of disorganized typewritten sheets or manuscript fragments the materials do not merely act as containers for their texts they spill into the semantic content of the writing becoming entangled in it the idiosyncratic materials and methods of the writing process do not disappear when the work enters print examining these material traces Textual Entanglements contends that we cannot fully understand these texts semantic dynamics without considering the material circumstances of their production Jacob Haubenreich reads Handke Bernhard and Rilke to argue that the materiality of textual production opens up a broader semiotic field in which meaning can be created Haubenreich's book offers a theoretical framework and methodological models for integrating analysis of textual materiality into literary analysis in ways that expand the boundaries of literary interpretation
